

Institute for Capacity Development (ICD)

2 Edmonds Avenue, Corner Edmonds and Rekayi Tangwena, Belvedere Harare Zimbabwe|Cell: +263772305449|
Cell:+263772288451 Phone: +2634740919/218 |Email: coordinator@icdtraining.com: |Skype: icdtraining1 |Url: www.icdtraining.com

Community Food Security and Agriculture Development

Course Objectives

On successful completion of this course participants should be able to:

- Design strategies that can be put in place to develop agriculture for development
- Design indicators for community livelihoods
- Analyze and understand the major characteristics, problems, and development prospects of rural communities in their countries.
- Put into perspective the role of agriculture in reducing rural poverty
- Understand how agriculture can be a vehicle for rural development
- Assist policy is promoting targeted policies on agriculture development
- Identify the main components of food security and the mechanisms that must be in place to ensure equitable and sustainable access to food.
- Recognise the main indicators of food insecurity and describe their use in early warning systems currently being used.
- Identify coping and distress strategies that food insecure people commonly employ to mitigate risk and withstand shocks.

Target Groups

- Land development Officers
- Extension workers
- Agriculture Economists, Agriculture Experts, Agriculturalists
- Rural development planners and experts
- Policy planners
- Donor Agencies
- Community leaders
- Resource planners

Course Outline

- General management principles and practices
- Understanding Agricultural Development.
- Agriculture development and food security
- Sustainable Development and poverty reduction
- Food and agricultural systems and the role of agriculture in development.
- Rural livelihood, sustainable development and the role of Development Partners
- Community Participation in Development and Empowerment
- Agricultural development theories.
- Transforming traditional agriculture: land and labor.
- Technological change.
- Induced innovation.
- Marketing systems.
- Input markets and credit.
- Agricultural policies.

- Farming systems, methods and food shortages
- Measurement methods of food security at national, household and individual level
- Sustainable use of local resources: Fishing, hunting, farming, wild fruits harvesting
- Gender, food security and nutrition
- Institutional policies (microfinance, land policy) and safety net policies
- Contract farming, markets and food security
- Sustainability of food production
- Global and regional challenges of food security
- Food Security Information Systems
- Livelihoods status, assessment and analysis
- Livelihood indicators
- Assessment methods: Baseline versus Monitoring
- Monitoring changes in food security
- Monitoring and Measurement: Instruments and Tools
- Availability assessment and analysis
- Nutritional status and food security
- Assessing nutritional status
- Nutritional status indicators
- Vulnerability context
- Household surveys
- Action planning

Dates: 18th – 29th January 2021

Duration: 2 Weeks

Course Costs: US$2850

Venue: Harare, Zimbabwe